

Pronounced:
[MAY-lee]

Meili's founders, Jason Momoa & Blaine Halvorson, are two brothers cut from the same cloth.

"Seven years ago, we noticed a void in the vodka industry. We felt nothing we tasted was particularly remarkable - and no one adequately addressed the need for sustainability within spirits. As a result, we created Meili Vodka."

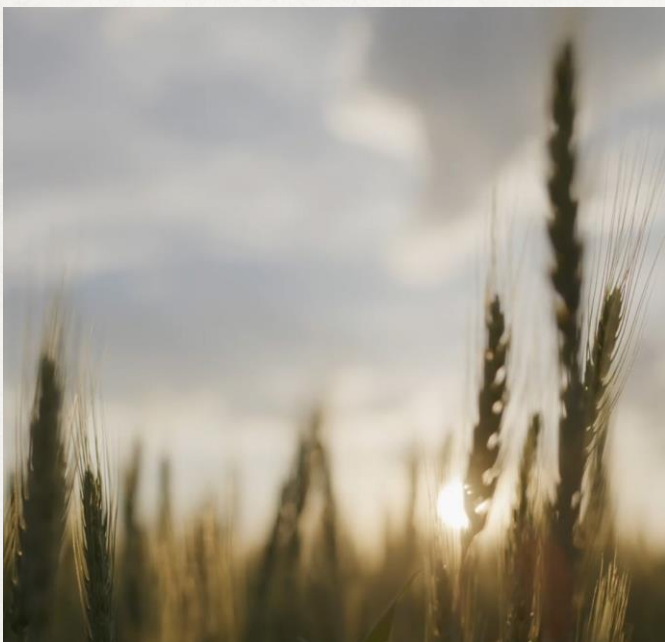

We craft Meili using pure water - needing zero treatment or filtration, combined with hand-selected grains from our farms in Montana. We distill only once, allowing the quality of our ingredients to shine as the showcase of our spirit - all in our 100% post-consumer recycled glass bottle.

We believe we've created the best-tasting and most sustainable vodka on the planet with Meili - and we're thrilled to share that with you."

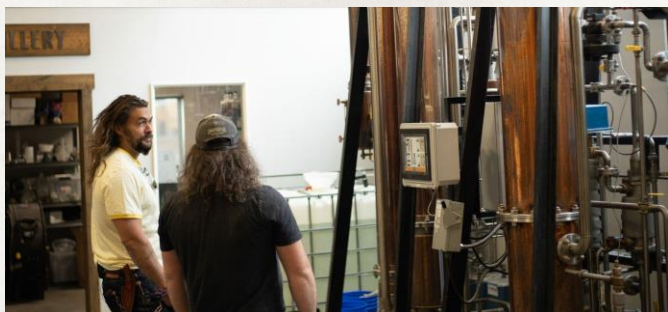

WATER - Purity, Uncompromised

- It's simple; the best water makes the best vodka. Meili uses some of Earth's purest natural spring water, resulting in an incredibly refreshing, unpolluted, and truly unique flavor.
- A 300 million-year-old aquifer provides the mineral-rich spring water for our vodka - the absolute purest available by EPA standards.
- Meili takes pride in using "living water" to distill and proof our spirit to bottle - unlike other brands, which strip all minerals out through Reverse Osmosis.

GRAINS - The Body of Our Spirit

- Our high-quality grains are sourced locally on our farms in Montana, operated by the same family for generations.
- A harmonious marriage of native and seasonal grains provides Meili's unique flavor and unrivaled character. Meili is proud to offer the finest selection of grains within our proprietary mash.
- Our farms are located centrally to our water source and distillery, resulting in the smallest carbon footprint possible. As a result, Meili is created, sourced, and produced as ethically, environmentally friendly, and humanely as possible.

SPIRIT - Profile & Taste

- We distill Meili a single time to preserve the characteristics of our pure water and native grain's flavor. The quality of our ingredients is the showcase within our spirit.
- Designed to be enjoyed neat, Meili exhibits a bright, smooth, and effortless flavor profile, raising the bar for vodka.
- Meili is simply the purest, most versatile vodka on the market. In a blind taste test - neat or mixed, warm or cold - the differences can be immediately noted and appreciated.

SUSTAINABILITY - Bottle & Packaging

- Meili uses 100% post-consumer recycled glass to ensure no two bottles are alike.
- Our bottle stands out from the crowd with its unique antique texture, organic imperfections, and subtle green hue - an appropriate vessel for our outstanding spirit.
- Jason and Blaine have a passion for sustainability - and have spent the last 7 years designing and building a package that supports these ideals.
